BOTH CLAIM THE VICTORY.

The Battle of Ballots in New York Tomorrow.

THE ODDS ARE NEARLY EVEN

No One Believes Seriously That Young George Will Poll a Strong Vote.

By Wire To THE TELEGRAM.

New York, Nov. 1.—Both the Citizens Union and Richard Croker claim sure victory in tomorrow's great contest. It is charged that Platt and Croker are working together to defeat Seth Low.

The vote which Henry George would have received had he lived, will be largely scattered, no one believing, seriously, that young George will poll a strong vote.

The betting odds are nearly even now, and General Tracy is not considered in it.

The citizens union is taking every precaution to see that all the votes are properly cast and counted, and that there be no stuffing of ballot boxes.

POINTS FROM HIGH POINT.

Personal and Local Affairs Briefly Mentioned.

TELEGRAM BUREAU.

HIGH POINT, N. C., Nov. 1, '97.

Ernest Carr drove over from Trinity this morning, bringing Misses McGirt and Carr, who went on to Greensboro.

Gentry's show cars are on the siding here. He has a fine lot of ponies.

The southbound train Saturday night was about three hours late.

Miss Henryanna Hackney returned from Guilford college this morning.

Miss Allie Walker, daughter of Col. Ed. Walker, of Asheville, is visiting Miss Tomlinson, at Archdale. Miss Walker is one of Asheville's most popular and charming young ladies.

Child of the Stage.

Truly Miss Van Tassel may be called "A Child of the Stage". Her first appearance before the glare of the footlights was made when she was only seven years of age; it was with Mrs. Scott Siddons at the Euclid Avenue Opera House in Cleveland, Ohio. Miss Van Tassel's native city. She afterwards accompanied Mrs. Siddons on a tour of this country, and won golden opinions for her wonderful dramatic readings. At the age of twelve she was at the head of her own company, and to-day she is certainly the youngest star among the brilliant lights in the theatrical firmament. Miss Van Tassel has made nine complete tours of the United States and Canada, and during the last three years has played only the leading theatres in the large cities, and has been received everywhere with unbounded enthusiasm by both the press and the public. Last season she made a brief tour in England, where she was so favorably received that her manager has completed negotiations for an extended engagement there at the close of this season. Mr. Frank W. Lane, who conducts Miss Van Tassel's management, has surrounded his star with a company of recognized artists well known in the amusement world, and during the coming season will present a repertoire including all of her recent successes. Hunting in the Rain.

President Spencer and party of the Southern railway passed through this morning for Friendship where they go on a hunting expedition. They stopped over a short while in Greensboro in their separate car. Mr. Spencer has an excellent reservation and lodge at Friendship.

Tripped the Light Fantastic.

There was a dance at Proximity Saturday night over the new store and a large crowd participated. Every one enjoyed the occasion.

Seven Deaths Today.

By Wire To THE TELEGRAM.

New Orleans, Nov. 1.—At 7 o'clock this morning seven deaths had been reported from yellow fever. There are only nine new cases.

Cheap Gas.

Since October 1st, 1897, and forward, illuminating gas furnished at $2 per thousand feet, if bill is paid on presentation, provided the same amounts to $1 or more for each meter. Fuel gas for cooking purposes $1 per thousand feet, net.

ECHOES OF THEIR VISIT.

The New England Party and What The Thought of Greensboro.

The New England Cotton manufacturers left Greensboro 4:15 Saturday, arrived in Salisbury 5:30, left Salisbury 8:55, spent Sunday until 2:05 in Asheville and arrived in Spartanburg Sunday night, spending today their and at Union S. C.,—expecting to reach Columbia tonight.

They were met at Salisbury by committee—Mayor T. C. Linn and five or six mill men.

It was too late to go through the mills, but a party went down the railroad about three-quarters of a mile in Supt. O'Brien's private car and viewed the Salisbury cotton mill and its favorable location. The women in the party and a few of the men, were driven to the National cemetery and about town until it was too dark to see more. At 7 o'clock the party took supper at the Mt. Vernon Hotel.

They were much pleased with Greensboro, its schools, its mill buildings, its business houses, its residences, the Benbow, and above all with the club rooms and the hospitality of the citizens and the courtesies shown them.

The only adverse criticism was relative to the "roads", not only here but all they had seen in the south.

They noted particularly the desirable location of Greensboro as a good railroad center. The cheapness of fuel for many purposes and especially the economy of mill construction, the cost of brick for building, the cost of operatives, houses, houses of equal size with the ones at Proximity costing from three to five times what they cost here. The colder weather demanding a better built house in New England.

They had already studied the difference in the labor cost and appreciated that, but many had not realized the great difference in the first cost of the mill.

The "three cheers and a tiger,"—proposed by Mr. Eaton, the president of the association, for the town of Greensboro, the Industrial Associations and the hospitable people as evidenced by the entertainment we have received at the hands of their committee, was responded to heartily by the entire party as they entered the train at 4:15 Saturday, demonstrated that the committee was wise in exerting itself to show Greensboro to the party.

Some of the ladies said, "we shall never forget Greensboro, for we shall always remember the genial Judge who helped entertain us."

D. A. Tompkins, of Charlotte said, "The way these Merchants and Manufacturers Associations are opening up is surprising. We thought at Charlotte that we had the best in the State but here at Greensboro we find one which will push us to secure a building of our own if we are to be ahead. The rooms of the Association are beautiful and so conveniently arranged."

MRS. SALLIE S. COTTON COMING.

To Give A Reading at the G. F. College Friday Night, Nov. 5th.

The many friends and admirers of Mrs. Sallie S. Cotton will be delighted to hear that she will be in Greensboro Friday night, Nov. 5th, and give a reading for the benefit of the College Library. Her subject will be the "Legend of Virginia Dare." This will prove very entertaining and instructive to the large audience who will welcome her. Mrs. Cotton gave this reading in Wilmington before the Society of Colonial Dames of that City, and was given an oration. The press of the Metropolitan City was very complimentary in its notices and promised Mrs. Cotton an even larger audience if she would come again. She gives this reading in Charlotte this week, and President Peacock induced her to stop over and give our people an opportunity of hearing her. In order to fill the commodious Chapel at the College, the price of admission has been put at 25c. Those who heard Mrs. Cotton last commencement will be glad to avail themselves of this second opportunity. Tickets on sale at Wharton Bros.

Cheap Hotel Opened.

By Wire To THE TELEGRAM.

New York, Nov. 1.—The doors of Miller's hotel, on Blacker street, a cheap and model boarding house, with accommodations for nearly 1,600 people, were opened this morning for the reception of tenants. The number of applicants far exceeded the expectations of the management.

Engineer's Body Found.

By Wire To THE TELEGRAM.

Garrison, N. Y. Nov. 1.—The body of John Foyle, engineer of the wrecked train, was found today in a hole in the bottom of the river made by the locomotive, and shipped to his residence in East Albany.

THE ELECTIONS TOMORROW

To be Held in Fourteen Different States

WHAT OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED

Some States Will Elect Governors, Others State Officers and Others Members of the Legislature.

By Wire To THE TELEGRAM.

New York, Nov. 1.—Elections will be held in fourteen states tomorrow. In some states Governors will be elected, and in others, state officials, and still others will elect only members of the legislature.

The outcome in all will be watched with eager interest and will be regarded as indications of National sentiment wherever the issues have been clearly drawn as they have in many state elections.

In Colorado only justices of the Supreme Court are to be elected tomorrow.

In Delaware, assemblymen for the northern section.

In Iowa, governor, state officers, house of representatives and part of state officers.

Kentucky, clerk of the court of appeals.

Maryland, comptroller, clerk of the court of appeals and members of the legislature.

Massachusetts, governor, state officers, legislature.

Nevada, legislature.

New Jersey, assembly, one-third of senators.

Nebraska, supreme court judge, two regents of state university.

New York, chief judge of the court of appeals, assemblymen.

Ohio, governor, state officials, legislature which will choose a United States senator.

Pennsylvania, state treasurer, auditor general, legislature in the northern part of the state.

Virginia, governor, state officers, house delegates and part of the senate which will choose successor to Senator Daniel.

Washington legislature.

AMID BOOMING CANNON.

Tug Three Friends Left Jacksonville Last Night.

By Wire To THE TELEGRAM.

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 1.—The tug Three Friends left here last night amid the booming of cannon and other salutes, towing the schooner Portly with cattle bound for Havana.

There is an interesting rumor that the Three Friends was selected by the Cuban Junta on account of her past record as a filibusterer.

It is hoped that when she appears in Havana harbor the resentment of the Spaniards will take the form of seizure, as there is a United States Deputy Marshal aboard. This will constitute sufficient grounds so Cubans hope, for the instant interference of the Washington officials.

LAI'D TO REST.

The Body of Henry George Buried in Greenwood Cemetery.

By Wire To THE TELEGRAM.

New York, Nov. 1.—At last, in quiet care, the body of Henry George lies in the east parlor at his late home at Fort Hamilton.

Upon a little knoll in Greenwood cemetery a few men were this morning turning up earth to make a resting place for the body. Before the city shall have been well on with its work today, all that is mortal of the dead statesman will be laid away. The day is cloudy, with a slow drizzling rain.

TO PROHIBIT FOOTBALL.

The Georgia Legislature to Stop Match Games in that State.

By Wire To THE TELEGRAM.

Atlanta, Nov. 1.—As a result of the death of Von Gammon at Saturday's game here between the Virginia and Georgia teams, it is said the legislature will pass a bill prohibiting the playing of match games in this state.

The denominational colleges have been making a fight on the university for some time for allowing these contests, and Saturday's fatal tragedy puts a powerful club into their hands.

Injured in a Collision.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Berlin, Nov. 1.—A locomotive engine collided with a train at Ellenburg today, on the Halle-Kettbus line, fifteen miles from Leipzig, in which 29 persons were injured, six of whom may die.

FOOTBALL SATURDAY.

A Georgia Player Laid up With Concussion of the Brain.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 30.—The Georgia-Virginia football game this afternoon resulted in a victory for the Virginians by a score 17 to 4.

The Virginia team was too heavy for the Georgia boys and outclassed them at every point. Virginia resorted almost entirely to bucking the center, and pounded Georgia's two tackles terribly.

The feature of the game was a goal from the field kicked by Morrison, the Virginia captain.

Georgia's touchdown was made on a fluke and at no time were they able to gain ground against their opponents and retain ball. They had to resort to kicking to keep from losing the ball on downs.

Gammon, of the Georgia team, was seriously injured in one of the scrimmages and the doctors say he has concussion of the brain. His recovery is doubtful.

Carolina Defeated.

Danville, Oct. 30.—The Virginia Polytechnic Institute defeated Carolina here today by a score of 4 to 0. Virginia won by the effective use of the guards back formation, having a 250 pound guard. Carolina lost by costly fumbles.

CUT HEAVY STEEL BOLTS.

Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars Worth of Diamonds Stolen.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

London, Nov. 1.—Fifty-thousand dollars worth of diamonds were stolen from the salesroom at Smooth, one of the big diamond merchants in Piccadilly, between Saturday evening and opening time this morning.

The robbers cut heavy steel bolts, prizing the gates open. The establishment is being well watched, and the robbery is a deep mystery.

London, Nov. 1.—2:30 p. m. This afternoon it has been discovered that twenty-five thousand dollars more in diamonds were stolen from Smooth's.

Facts Worth Studying.

If the Southern Stock-Mutual pays no larger dividends than the 20 per cent. now paid, and the business increases during the next seven years in the same ratio it has increased during the last three years, the actual saving for the ten years to policy-holders in North and South Carolina will be $194,822.00, and to the policy-holders in Greensboro alone, $26,237.00. Besides this the Company's assets (reinsurance reserve and surplus) represented by still larger figures will be kept at home and invested in the state. What better investment can the public make than by upholding an institution like this?

"THE INTELLIGENT OX."

The Norfolk Landmark, commenting upon a remark of Miss Frances E. Willard's, heads it remarks "The Modern Student as the Intelligent Ox." The Landmark says, among other things, that "this tendency to teach, or to attempt to teach too much is one of the most alarming in the educational world today." Wherein we do not concur. There may be occasional instances where there is an attempt to crowd into the ordinary course of the school or college too many subjects but as a rule the crowding is individual, not general; the choice of the student, not the compulsion of the institution is responsible for it.

A great deal of nonsense has been written lately about education. It is not at all unusual for some man of very small experience in matters pedagogic to discover the "royal road" over night and share his discovery with the world next morning. There are "short and easy methods" and "practical methods" and "special methods" without number, just as they are without reason.

The most alarming tendency in modern education is not the tendency to spread over too many subjects, but the tendency to confine the student to too few, the tendency to "specialize" in obedience to the counting room cry for "education that is practical." It is not the studying of too many branches that "works the minds," as the Landmark alleges, but the studying of too few; the specializing on one or two branches and ignoring others.

The man who merely knows physics or mathematics or a language is not an educated man, because no one branch, or two other branches for that matter, can develop all the powers of the human mind. We have all seen the "educated" man who knew but one thing, and when you caught him off his guard was as helpless as a hotentot in Boston. He can talk learnedly and lengthily of germs or integration, knows the exact curvature of the left hind claw of a measles bacillus, but has never heard of the simplest laws of political economy.

One thing that is responsible more than any other for this tendency to specialize is the so-called "business education." Specializing is alright in its place but there should be a little generalizing first. The business college, however, offers to thoroughly equip and "educate" the ambitious youth, who is consumed with impatience and ambition to show his prowess in the fray, in a period ranging from three to nine months. He is impressed with the uselessness of spending years in study when he can get an education ready to his hand with little labor and time.

From the University to the primary school the most dangerous tendency is for the student to confine himself to those branches only which he expects to be of immediate and practical service to him. A few men, a very few, have the energy after they have settled down to a given calling to study beyond it. What the average man knows of other things he must learn before the bread and butter problem confronts him imperiously.

That education only is rational which looks at the student as a human being first, not as an organized automaton that must be set going in some one definite direction. A man should be educated to be a citizen as well to be a money maker; he should be a social, moral, intellectual benefit to the community as well as a successful teacher after the products of the community. The man who does nothing more for a community than get rich in it is about the poorest man in the community. Men get enough of commercialism after leaving school. Let our schools be untainted of its breath.

IT'S REFORM!

The present management in the state penitentiary is getting it "in the neck" these days. But why need the people complain? Isn't this the long, promised reform?

Five years ago this fall Democratic newspapers and speakers all over North Carolina predicted this state of affairs and warned our friends, the Populists—or People's Party then—of the disastrous results of their movement. They heeded not these warnings. Indeed, the warnings were thrust aside as Democratic abuse, slander and lies.

Now take this one case as a sample of the fulfillment of those predictions. Take the last biennial report of the penitentiary under the management of Hon. A. Leazar and compare it with the present mismanagement. If we are not very much mistaken that report shows the penitentiary self-sustaining with a balance to its credit.

At the present rate, and with the present incompetent (to say the least of it) management, one item of which is shown in the following paragraph from yesterday's Charlotte Observer, the penitentiary will not only not be self-sustaining, but will again be a heavy charge on the tax payers of the state.

"There are a lot of things in the penitentiary management which need explanation, but nothing more than this matter, developed by ex-Superintendent Leazar in this card published yesterday: In January last, before going out of office, he sold 900 bales of cotton at $31 per bale. In April following when cotton was higher than it was in January, his successor sold 831 bales at about $18 per bale. Mr. Leazar says 'it is not easy to explain this.' We doubt if it is, and yet Superintendent Smith and the penitentiary board owe it to the public to make a pass at it.

Poison in Honey.

May's Landing, N. J., Oct. 30.—At dinner today Mrs. Joseph Rammel and her son and Sarah Ingersoll ate honey. Soon afterward Mrs. Rammel and Mrs. Ingersoll were taken violently ill, while young Rammel returned home from work in a serious condition. All became dizzy and their bodies were cold and numb, followed by a high fever. Restoratives were taken, and after vomiting freely, the sufferers were relieved of all danger. It is believed that they were poisoned by the honey, as it frequently occurs that bees gather their stores from poisonous flowers.

The U. N. C. foot ball team spent yesterday at the Benbow and left last night on a special train for Chapel Hill.

F. D. Wyman, traveler for Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell Mass., was in the city today and called on THE TELEGRAM.

A shirt that can stand alone would be a "sweet boon" to some people. Try the Steam Laundry. Read their ad today.

Solicitor W. P. Bynum and John A. Barringer, Esq., left this morning to attend the Supreme court, now in session at Raleigh.

On this page you will find Andrews' card of thanks for the best trade he has ever had. He offers nice bananas at 15 cents a dozen this week.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the First Presbyterian will hold its monthly business meeting at 7:30 tonight. Chairmen of committees will please present written reports.

W. W. Fuller, of New York, formerly of Durham, attorney for the American Tobacco Company, was in the city yesterday, registered at the McAdoo.

Take advantage of the ladies free ticket to attend the Cora Van Tassel performance tonight in "The New Hidden Hand." The curtain will ring up at 8:30.

A dining car official on the Southern stated this morning that their business had decreased to one-sixth its former proportions since the yellow fever epidemic set in.

Need any specialties? One specialty specially need such weather as this as well as in the hot summer time is advertised by Matthews, Chrischold & Stroud today. See ad.

On Sundays, especially in the afternoon, a number of negro boys are in the habit of riding wheels at full speed on North Elm street. On yesterday a lady stopped just in time to avoid a collision.

A horse hitched to a cart, driven by a boy named Thomas, ran from W. Gaston street down N. Elm into Church street, when last seen he was running at full speed. No one was in the cart at the time.

On account of the rain the regular monthly business meeting of the Young Peoples Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church, which was announced for tonight has been postponed to Monday next.

When the bleak winds of winter blow and thickening clouds betoken snow—fact is, don't you know, you must have a wrap, and of course it must be the latest style. Johnson & Dorsett advertise dress goods and wraps today.

The minstrel show Saturday night was patronized by a good house, and greatly enjoyed. The songs in the main were new and up-to-date, as were also the jokes. Billy Kersands' parody on "A Hot time in the old town tonight" was particularly good. The slack wire performance was the best ever seen here. It is not too much to say that this is one of the best minstrels on the road.

Yesterday evening as Dr. E. L. Stamey was riding along Asheboro street on his wheel he met a man and woman in a buggy. The Doctor turned to the right as is customary, and it is a custom that is recognized by all well bred people. Instead of doing likewise, the man in the buggy turned to the left and pressed the Doctor so near the gutter that the soft dirt gave way beneath him and threw him. He was caught and ran over and while he was not seriously hurt his clothing was torn. This is, to say the least of it, inexcusable on the part of the driver. The street is wide and the Doctor had given him at least nine-tenths of the drive-way. It really looks like a piece of down-right meanness.

Something New, A Klondike Social.
The ladies' of the St. Barnabas Church will furnish gold diggings for the multitude who can't go to Alaska. Come and dig for the glittering yellow nuggets, every one is entitled to stake out a claim. Nov. 9th is the date and the Rectory the place, cor. North Elm and Price streets.

A DANGEROUS NEGRO.

Henry Whitice Objects to Going to Jail.

Henry Whitice will be tried at the mayor's office this afternoon at four o'clock. Besides answering to the charge of beating his wife, he will also be tried for trying to beat the Greensboro police force. He spent last night securely chained to the floor of the jail.

Whitice is a dangerous negro. He is a kind of bull of the walk among the Greensboro darkies, and they are all afraid of him and hence are always on his side. Last April a warrant was sworn out against him for maltreating his wife, but he evaded the officers and went to Durham. He had not been there long before he found himself working the county roads. He was put on for resisting an officer.

Whitice, after serving out his sentence in Durham, returned to Greensboro. He may have forgotten about the Greensboro police, but they were not so forgetful and Saturday night officer Whittington served the warrant upon him and attempted to lead him to jail. But he resisted and when he was forced along he began to fight and curse, declaring that he would die before he would be carried to jail. Officers Whittington and Scott had a hard time getting him hand-cuffed and he continued to resist and fight all the way from Ward's drugstore to the cell door. An attempt was made to lodge him in a cell where there were eleven other negroes. These joined Whitice in his struggling to get away from the officers and swore they would kill the policemen if they put Whitice in the cell. They yelled "Murder" and "Fire" and raised such a hubbub that the noise was heard up beyond the college.

Whitice was finally safely placed and securely chained to the floor. He made many threats about what he would do when he got a chance at Mr. Whittington. He will no doubt receive a severe sentence this afternoon and he deserves it.

Later—At the trial before the mayor this afternoon Whitice was bound over to court in a $100 bond, in default of which he was remanded to jail.

County Sunday School Convention.

The Guilford county Sunday-school convention will convene Saturday morning Nov. 6th at 10 o'clock at West Market Street church, holding a morning and evening session. Delegates from the different Sunday schools in the county are expected to be present.

At West Market Last Night.

West Market street church was crowded last night and the little children taught the audience many good missionary lessons. The Chinese girl was a rather unique affair and took well. Prof. Peacock was out with the college girls, contrary to his usual custom.

Witchwork.

Those who come to us for Fall Shoes sometimes think it must be witchwork that makes it possible for us to fit them so quickly, perfectly and cheaply. Not a bit of it! It's not witchwork, but hard work, that does it.

While you were fishing and loafing and resting this summer, we were at work to get this stock in shape—which work is what worked the witchwork.

For Example:

We are offering this week:
Ladies' Vici Kid, hand sewed button shoes, London toe, patent tip, B, C, D and E width, at $3.50, worth $5.00.
Ladies' cloth top button or lace shoes, patent tip, com. toe, C, D and E widths, sizes 1 to 7, at $2.50. This shoe would be cheap at $3.50.
